

THE FIRST DAY OF THE FEAST OF TABERNACLES

INTRODUCTION

Just think, during the thousand year period to come, Jesus will rule on the earth. The laws of the land will be the commandments of God. Imagine the peace that the world will experience. Think about how everyday life for mankind will be different. The kingdoms of this world will become the kingdoms of Yahweh and Yahshua. It is the beginning of Jesus' eternal rule. All of these things begin with our translation.

Memory Verse: Romans 8:22 For we know that the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now.

BIBLICAL LESSON

This day is the beginning of the celebration of living in temporary housing. The children of Israel lived in temporary dwellings for 40 years while they were in the Wilderness of Sin. They were pilgrims, sojourning in wilderness, waiting for the promise. We too are strangers, sojourning in our wilderness of sin, both personal and all around us, waiting on the promises of Yahweh. We are looking forward to a new body, and a new world, governed by Yahshua himself. This lesson contrasts our current state and the new world order to come.

We live in temporary houses now: 2 Corinthians 5:1-10

We await our new bodies: 1 Corinthians 15:35-50

The new world order: Revelation 20:1-4

What will the world will feel like: Isaiah 11:1-10 (the entire chapter if you have time...)

APPLICATION

What are you doing every day to remind yourself of the new world to come?
How are you changing your life to be ready for the coming of Jesus?
